

NEWPORT QUAYS

The vision...

The $2 billion Newport Quays development represents one of Australia's last port redevelopments, and encompasses over 50 hectares of Government owned, waterfront land along the Port Adelaide River.

Newport Quays is located approximately 15 km (or 20 mins) from the Adelaide CBD, and less than 2km from Semaphore Beach and is now a newly formed suburb known as New Port.

Newport Quays is the State's most significant urban renewal, and will be developed over the next 10 to 15 years (across up to 20 stages approximately), delivering over 2,500 worldclass waterside properties and boosting the local population by over 4000 new residents on completion.

The project vision for Newport Quays includes significant retail, waterside cafes, restaurants, and commercial opportunities along with marina berths to reactivate the inner Port Adelaide Harbour.
